House Dining Meal Plan Contract
Terms and Conditions: 2019-2020

The following terms and conditions of the House Dining Meal Plan Contract (the “Contract” or the “Plan”) apply to all MIT House Dining meal plans, MIT debit accounts, and cash patrons of House Dining locations. By using their meal plan card (MIT ID Card) or another form of payment to gain entry to the MIT House Dining hall, all MIT students and other House Dining customers agree to accept all of the terms and conditions of the Plan and any revisions thereto, that may be made from time to time by MIT. House Dining policies are posted at door checker stations for all patrons. The MIT House Dining Meal Plan Contract is a legally binding contract and cannot be altered or modified without the prior written consent of the Director of Campus Dining. This Contract is valid for the entire academic year and becomes binding when the students indicate their acceptance of the Plan through MIT’s online Housing and Dining enrollment process.

Required Meal Plan Enrollment
Students living in Baker House, Maseeh Hall, McCormick Hall, Next House, and Simmons Hall (collectively, the “House Dining or HD Residences”) are required to enroll in one of the meal plans designated specifically for their residence and class year eligibility. Members of the first year class assigned to one of the HD Residences should enroll in a meal plan for the house they select immediately following the close of the first year housing lottery period. Incoming first years assigned to an HD Residence who do not select a meal plan by Tuesday, July 30, 2019 automatically enroll in the Any 14 + $175 plan. Returning students who opt to live in a HD Residence are required to enroll in a meal plan by Wednesday, June 26, 2019, via the Student Web website <http://myhousing.mit.edu>. Returning students who do not enroll in a meal plan by this date will be defaulted to the minimum meal plan. Required meal plan eligibility is below:

Minimum enrollment requirements are determined by the number of semesters individuals attend MIT, and are congruent with Housing policies and procedures. Individuals granted advanced class standing are not eligible to change their meal plan mid-academic year. For example, a first year granted second year status in January is not eligible for the second year minimum enrollment plan until his/her third semester at MIT.

Any student assigned to housing in an HD Residence after August 1, 2019, who was not living in assigned housing for the spring 2019 semester, automatically default to the minimum meal plan on September 1, 2019. Any student assigned to housing in an HD Residence after January 1, 2020 who was not living in assigned housing for the fall 2019 semester automatically default to the minimum meal plan on January 31, 2020.

Students may choose plans above the minimum commitment to meet dietary needs.

All meal plans automatically renew at the end of the fall semester for the spring semester, regardless of whether they are required or voluntary. Students can make changes to spring semester meal plans through Student Web once the change period opens.

Meal Plan Changes and Cancellations
The meal plan change and cancellation period is at the beginning of each semester. Returning students, who did not choose a fall semester meal plan by the June 26th deadline and were automatically enrolled in a meal plan, may change their meal plan at any time during the meal plan change period. For the academic year 2019-20, the fall change period begins on Friday August 23, 2019 and ends on Friday September 13, 2019. The spring change period begins Friday, January 10, 2020 and ends on Friday, February 14, 2020. During these periods, changes are made online via Student Web <http://myhousing.mit.edu>.

Refunds/Prorations
Calculations are based on the Daily Cost for weekly (Any) plans or Per Meal Cost for block meal plans. Please see the refund example at the end of the document. You may see a credit or charge depending on your specific circumstance and whether you switch between plan types. Students purchasing a block plan at any time during the semester are charged the full price of the block plan. The full price of the cancelled plan is reimbursed minus the Daily Cost or Per Meal Cost of meals already used. Refunds are made to student accounts only.

Students may only make one change to their meal plan during each change period. Students enrolled in the meal plan on a voluntary basis may not cancel their meal plan after the corresponding semester’s change period ends. Students who enroll after the fall meal plan change period ends may not change or cancel their meal plan until the spring semester change period. Students who enroll after the spring’s meal plan change period may not change or cancel their meal plan. Meal plan changes are pro-rated on a daily basis for weekly plans or remaining block meals beginning with the first available meal the day following the submitted change. Students who move from a residence with House Dining, to a residence with no mandatory meal plan requirement may cancel their meal plan on a prorated basis beginning the day after their move date. Students must cancel their meal plan independently of the housing reassignment process. Voluntary meal plan holders may cancel their plans prior to the first day of service for the semester or during the meal plan change period only.

Late Night Operations
All members of the residential community may use late night options offered at Simmons Hall and The Howard Dining Hall in Maseeh hall. Please see below for regular hours of operation. Students may use a meal swipe, cash, dining dollars, and TechCASH during late night.

Late Night Regular Hours
Late Night hours regular operational days are Sunday-Thursday, excluding the first week of the meal plan, and Institute holidays. Simmons late night service is open from 9:00 pm – 1:00 am Sunday–Thursday. The Howard Dining Hall late night service is open from 10:00 pm – 1:00 am Sunday –Thursday. Times and days are subject to change. Adverse weather conditions may necessitate closing.

Medical and Religious Meal Plan Modifications
MIT Dining will take all reasonable steps to assist participants with religious or medical dietary needs in the House Dining system, but MIT does not guarantee that House Dining facilities can address all possible dietary restrictions. MIT Dining collaborates closely with Bon Appetit and Student Disability Services to assist those with special dietary needs.

Any Plan Week
An Any plan has a set number of meals per week. The meal plan week begins with Sunday brunch and ends at the close of Saturday dinner. Weekly meal plan allocations reset each Saturday following dinner service. The weekly meal plan balance adjusts at the end of each meal period to reflect breakfast/brunch, lunch and dinner, and late night service periods remaining in the week for that particular meal plan. The balance of unused swipes at the conclusion of a week do not carry over, and are not refunded, transferred, or accumulated in any way for future use.

Block Plan Semester
Each Block plan is based on a number of meals per semester. The meal plan begins at the first Saturday brunch of the semester and ends at the close of the last Friday dinner of the semester. Block meal swipes are to use at any meal period. Block meals not used by the conclusion of the semester do not carry over and cannot be refunded, transferred, or accumulated for future use.

Meal Plan Program Schedule Opening and Closing Dates
House Dining service for the 2019 fall semester begins with brunch on Saturday, August 31, 2019, and ends with dinner on Friday, December 20, 2019. Service for the 2020 spring semester begins with brunch on Saturday, February 1, 2020 and ends with dinner on Friday, May 22, 2020. The meal plan program does not cover MIT’s recesses for Summer, Winter Break or IAP. The meal plan covers Spring Break and Thanksgiving weekend service with modified services and locations.

Scheduling
MIT Dining reserves the right to modify dining program hours of operation as service needs require. MIT Dining will make every reasonable effort to continue dining services during periods of weather emergency, power shortages, union actions, and similar circumstances. In the event modifications to dining services are required, changes will be announced on MIT Dining’s home page, http://dining.mit.edu, via the MIT Mobile App and/or through email sent to meal plan holders.

Dining Dollars
All plans come with Dining Dollars for use in campus retail locations, as well as House dining. Dining dollars come with a 5% discount (each $1.00 in purchase costs you .95 cents in dining dollars) at on-campus dining locations. Unused Dining Dollars roll over from the fall to spring semester, as long as a new contract is signed. If a new contract is not signed for spring, remaining fall dining dollars are credited to your account. All dining dollars expire at the end of the spring semester. Dining Dollars will be the default first tender, followed by TechCash, in campus retail dining operations, except LaVerde’s.

Change in status
Students registered for the fall semester and enrolled in a meal plan who either will not be attending MIT during the spring semester or will be attending an MIT semester abroad program, must notify MIT Dining of their change in status and housing, using the online change/cancellation form. This avoids enrollment for a spring-semester meal plan and being charged.

Leaves
Students may terminate this Contract without penalty, if given an Institute-approved leave. Students must notify MIT Dining of their leave status and pay for meal plan service used through their posted leave date or last usage date, whichever is later.

Billing
Students are required to pay for the meal plan when it appears on their student account/monthly bill from Student Financial Services. Charges or credits resulting from meal plan changes will appear on student bursar statements after the change. Finance charges resulting solely from meal plan changes will not be adjusted or refunded. Student Financial Services policies on payment of the finance charge for late payments and other penalties for failure to make proper payments apply.

Contract Adjustments
MIT reserves the right to adjust meal plan rates before or during the Contract period by action of the Board of the MIT
